Ngoc Anh Thu Kieu

Profile

I am a passionate frontend developer and graphic designer with experience across both web and mobile platforms. Skilled in multiple programming languages and frameworks, I specialize in creating responsive, user-friendly, and visually appealing digital experiences. With a degree in Multimedia, specializing in frontend development, I bring not only strong technical expertise but also a creative eye for design.

Alongside my development skills, I have worked as a freelance designer, focusing on branding, rebranding, and web design projects. This combination of technical knowledge and creative design allows me to deliver innovative solutions that merge functionality with aesthetics. I am confident in my ability to contribute from day one, whether through coding or design.
